PLANTING WATERLILIES

The leaf spread of all waterlilies varies with the strength and vigor of the plant which depends upon the amount of plant food in the soil. Do not confine the roots in a small pot and expect a large bloom. Use best garden loam which has had bone-meal thoroughly mixed at the rate of 10 pounds to 1 cubic yard. The soil should be 12 inches deep and do not crowd plants. Plant in sunlight. The crown of the plant must be even with the soil, hardy waterlilies should be covered with 18 inches and Tender waterlilies with 6 inches of water.
